3.13(a)(3)

Veterinary care for dogs.

The written program of veterinary care is incomplete. There is no specific frequency or number of animals noted for sampling dogs for intestinal parasites and heartworm. At this time, no dogs are being sampled for heartworm or intestinal parasites. Intestinal parasites and heartworm are common causes of disease in dogs and, if undetected and not properly treated, can lead to serious illness. All required information listed in section 3.13(a) must be included in the program of veterinary care and dogs must be sampled for heartworm and intestinal parasites.

Correct by 1/4/2023.

3.13(b)(2)

Veterinary care for dogs.

APHIS Form 7005 indicated a 5 year old Maltese was found dead on 5/23/23. The licensee explained that he observed that the animal was not eating the day before, so he provided wet food that enticed the animal to eat. He did not have documentation of the problem and when it was identified. Without proper documentation, it is difficult to determine that the animal received adequate care. A proper medical record includes the date and a description of the problem, examination findings, test results, plan for treatment and care, and treatment procedures performed. This must be recorded and a copy kept for review for inspection by APHIS officials. Correct by ensuring all records of any treatments for problems identified in the dogs are recorded and maintained at all times.

Correct starting on 12/7/2023.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the licensee.
