3.13(a)(3) Repeat

Veterinary care for dogs.

The written program of veterinary care is incomplete. There is no specific frequency or number of animals noted for sampling dogs for intestinal parasites and heartworm. Not having how many dogs need to be sampled for heartworm or fecal parasites documented in the program of veterinary care doesn't ensure that an adequate number of dogs are being sampled. Intestinal parasites and heartworm are common causes of disease in dogs and, if undetected and not properly treated, can lead to serious illness. All required information listed in section 3.13(a) must be included in the program of veterinary care.

In addition, none of the adult dogs are currently up-to-date on their vaccines for distemper or parvo. Not vaccinating all adults dogs doesn't ensure the dogs are adequately protected from the various diseases. All adult dogs must be vaccinated for distemper and parvo in accordance with a schedule approved by the Attending Veterinarian.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the licensee.

End of report.
